ocrats. The only regret expressed is that, not withstanding the good average of the delegation chosen to represent Missouri at Chicago, there is not among the delegates any orator or statesman of large reputation. Opinions differ as to whether Gov. Crittenden is deserving of sympathy in the misfortune which betel him in the race for delegate at large, but the very large majority of those who express any regrets has them a rather upon the ground that the refusal to accord to him the honor which he should never have sough was in the nature of a self-stitiffication to the Democracy of the State. An interview between a country delegate and an Eighteenth Warder, in front of the Laclede Hotel, puts the open prety clearly for both sides:

"I am no addirer of Governor Crittenden," said the country delegate, "but it seems to me that to refuse to make him a delegate at-large was an insult to the Governor the State, and the convention shouldn't have done it."

"Well, as to that," replied the Eighteenth Warder, "it strikes me that the only blame in the case should rest upon Thomas T. Crittenden, who, knowing how he was regarded in the State, put the Governor of Missouri in the position to be insuited."

It is painfully evident that the Police Board triumvirate for whose inquity Gov. Crittenden as sumed the responsibility by indorsing their course, have finally concluded that his day of usefulness to them is past, and have turned upon their benefactor like all the rest of the State. They proved, in the election of district delegates to Chicago and in the vote given to John C'Day, that they could control a very considerable majority of the innerty-five votes allotted to the city, but out of that ninety-five votes allotted to the city, but out of that his day of the proved in the position they benefactor like all the rest of the State. They revotes allotted to the city, but out of that ninety-five votes allotted to the city, but out of that ninety-five votes allotted to the city, but out of that ninety-five votes allotted to

The smiling little Doctor, who for the present presides over the Police Board, and who had to get into the convention on a proxy, reported late and said he didn't care because Woodward hadn't got a vote in the Twenty-fourthWard.

Gen. Gooding dropped in for a few minutes to announce that he had signed contracts to lecture on the question "Does an Endorsement Endorse? If so, How Much and Whither Are We Drifting?"

PHELES' ATTITUE.

The attifude which Gov. Phelps is to assume in the campaign has not yet been fully determined upon by himself and friends. He and they are hesitating as to whether he should announce himself and enter upon an active campaign, or whether he should simply remain passive. To go into an aggressive canvass and then lose the fight would be a most unpleasant experience to contemplate, and the extraordinary strength exhibited by Marmadike renders such a consummation most probable. If the men opposed to Marmaduke were of the class who would be disposed to rally around Phelps there might yet be some hope; but such is not the case. The most active workers in behalf of Bashaw and Fyan regard Governor Phelps ass an omore desirable man for their purposes than Marmaduke, and the larger part of the Marmaduke strength, already pledged, consists of the element which would under the circumstances have gone to Phelps. The only contingency under which Gov. Phelps would probably—if not certainly—been put to the front as a candidate would be the failure of Marmaduke to secure a nomination on the second

WEDDED TO-DAY.

Nuptials of Mr. Chas. H. Longstreth and Miss Florence Bevis.

Miss Florence Bevis, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bevis, was married at 3 o'clock this aft-erhoon to Mr. Charles H. Longstreth of the Mer-mod & Jaccard Jewelry Co., the Rev. Dr. Hollifield tying the nuptial knot. The bride and groom were attended by Miss Ione Agiar and Miss Neilie Smith attended by Missione Agiar and Miss Nellie Smith of Cincinnati, Mr. W. W. Bowling and Mr. Harry-Leighton. The parlors were decorated most tastefully by Jordan, the mantels banked in roses and water lilies, and the pictures and lace curtains embellished by delicate wreaths of smilax. Between the folding doors hung acliarge bow and arrow of flowers, and cupid's dart made of blood-red fuchsias. The bridal pair stood beneath a large wishbone of white roses and coronations, the top slightly tinted by purple pansles with golden hearts. The bride, a striking brunette, tall and stately, wore a heavy white rep slik, with princess train about two yards in length, finished by a heavy sliken cord, with a petticoat embroidered in roses and fillies in sparking crystals; cascades of duchesse lace fell on either side. Pointed corsage, with Rembrandt collar cut in battlements over a fall of duchesse lace, the square neck embroidered in crystals, duchess lace; sleeves met by long white gauts de swede; tulle veil falling the extreme length of the train and fastened to the hair by a diamond pin, and on the left shoulder by an oblong cluster pin of diamonds, an heiricom in the family. The diamond carrings, of finest water, were the gift of the groom. Hand bouquet of Niphetos roses. Miss lone Agiar wore a pale blue surch satin, princess train, with garniture of Oriental lace; corsage cut square with Rex collar of lace and satin, hand bouquet of sea roses and diamond ornaments.

Miss Nellie Smith of Cincinnati, delicate pink surah satin, with long fan-shaped train over a robe front of Nile green brocade velvet, with Marie Antoinette collar; vest and cuffs richly embroidered in pearis; hand bouquet of Catherine Mermet roses; diamond ornaments.

Court was relieved this morning by a very entertaining but most miserable exhibition of the puglistic abilities of a well known and prominent attorney and two of the lesser lights of the bar. The trial of the East St. Louis switchmen was in procress, and Henry Halstead was being examined as a witness for stie prosecution where Mr. Flannigan, for the defense, painted the character of the witness in a pretty lurid hue. Robert Halbert, attorney for the prosecution, informed the jury that the picture just drawn was much more appliable to Mr. Flannegan than the witness who bore an excellent reputation. Mr. Flannegan jumped from his chair and facing the jury commenced a tirade of abuse of Mr. Halbert, referringto him as a low and common drunkard. The sentence was scarcely uttered when Halbert rushed toward Flannegan, grabbed him by the throat and forced him on his back over the railing in front of the jury. A wild and exciting scene followed, the jurors, attorneys, witnesses and spectators crowding around the belligerant attorneys to witness the scuffle. Mr. Canby grabbed a chair and raising it over his head, edged his way through the crowd with the intention of braining Mr. Halbert, but some of the spectators disarned Canby before he could reach the struggling attorney. Camby is Mr. Flannegan's law partner, which accounts for the blood-thirsty attitude he assumed. The fistic encounter continued while Canby was making an exhibition of himself, but as neither of the attorneys rates high as a fighter. Neitherwas much injured. Flannegan's right ear was out in the scuffle and his check slightly scratched. Deputy Sheriff Ragland attempted to separate the, two beligerants and was struck a hard blow on the left cheek and as Halbert and Flannegan only clawed with their open hands the opinion prevails that a St. Louis attorney who witnessed the melee and objected to having the combatants separated struck the blow which staggered the deputy sheriff. Quiet was finally restored and the examination of the witness continued. Befor

THE VOCAL QUARTET.

"A te, O Cara," from Bellin's "I Puritani," presented Miss Rosenthal as soprano; Miss Allen, tenor; Miss Gildehaus, first contraito; Miss Larkin, second coutraito. In this, Miss Allen, selecting and the programment of the miss Gildehaus, first contraito; Miss Larkin, second coutraito. In this, Miss Allen's clear voice was prominently noticed for its oxtreme flexibility. Each part of the quartet was delivered with energy and true coloring, and the vigorous sentiment of the motive suffered no misrepresentation. Miss McCarty, in her essay on "The Triumph of Art" spoke of the wonderful influence upon civilization art has already had, and how it is destined to win even greater victories for the world's enlightenment. In the polonaise, cavatina and chorus, from "I Puritani," Miss Handolph as soloist achieved a great success in her execution of the chromatics, which were struck with distinctness and firmness. The audience could scarcely restrain their expressions of approval. The beauties of "L'Elisir D'Amore" were brought out in the duo on four pianos by Misses Randolph, McCarty, Allen, Woodlin, Boucher, Gildehaus, A. Rosenthal and C. Rosenthal. The well-played "Royal Crown" march by Miss Allen was followed by the valedictory by Miss Randolph, who in a pleasant and somewhat original manner bade farewell to associates and teachers. Literary honors were then conferred upon the graduates, who were Misses B. Randolph, K. Gorman and Miss A. McCarty. Before the final distribution of prizes an address to the graduates was unade by Miss E. Hardy, Besides the crowns and gold medais bestowed upon the graduates. Miss Tabitha Allen, a post-graduate, was awarded a premium for improvement in music and French. Premiums for merit in the various branches were awarded as follows: First class-Cora Boucher, Mary Woodlin, Sanmie Henderson, Annie Calan, Eugenia Fiannigan, second division—Dora Boucher, Ma

New Venture.

Mr. John W. Norton returned from Chicago this morning, where he has been for some days past negotiating for the lease of the new Chicago Opera House, which is about to be new Chicago Opera House, which is about to be built. Mr. Norton was seen by a Post-Derarch reporter, and said that his mission had been entirely successful, as he had secured the lease of the theater at satisfactory terms. The time of the lease is for ten years. Speaking of the projected building, Mr. Norton said it would be the finest theater building in the West. The lot on which it is to be erected sectends 160 by 180 feet, and these figures will represent the dimensions of the building, which will be ten stories high. The theater—will coupy the centre of the building and will be 140 feet long by 63 feet wide with a seating capacity of about 2,300. This will permit of a fifty-foot stage and abundance of room in the auditorium, There will be a twenty-foot entrance on Washington street and a twelve-foot entrance and purpose of the building is little less than of the Metropolitan of New York. The Galaxy of Patriots Who Are Posing for Appointment as U. S. Marshal.

The rivalry for the position of U. S. Marshal in this district is growing very interesting. Felix Coste, the present incumbent, is relying on Carl Schurz, Dr. Prectorius and the independent Republican balance of power to pull him through.

Mr. P. C. Bulkley, encouraged by his splendid political success as the autocrat of the Silk Stocking committee, has already secured a number of indorsements to a paper declaring him to be the finest piece of material in the State for that particular service.

John H. Pohlman, having reconciled with Filley and helped him to 'down' the dangerous and desperate Peter P. Dailey on the occasion of the Sedalia Convention primaries, has presented his case to the President, who has this last chance to recognize the hoodlum element, which has been sadly overlooked by him in the past.

Henry Erb, Deputy City Marshal in the Second District Court, has sent on some very strong papers.

C. H. Laudy, as a representative of the colored Republicans of Missourl, confidently expects the appointment, owing to indorsements which he procured from nearly all the Southern negro delegates at the Chicago Convention.

that strengthened the Chicago market yesterday reached St. Louis this morning, and exerted the same effect here while in the former market the weather was clear, and prices went off. To help the weakening in Chicago corn was depressed and declining and cables dull and easier, private English advices reporting very little doing in wheat. New York held up right firm, which was not my the same that the past of the pright firm, which was not or some time past. The unfavorable weather in this section and heavy rains reported in Kansas held sellers off in this reacrise and again uneasiness among shorts to cause them to cover, and the consequent lack of offerings and the demand gave a firm tone to the home market. After the noon call came a flurry in the market, the announcement of the New York bank's failure and a further drop in prices in other markets making the crowd anxious to sell, so that prices went off, and the feeling was weak. The clear was at lowest prices of the season, and at decline of 146246 from yesterday. July sold at 934 early off to 235 and back to 934, then going off to and closing at 225,6255, August at 305 at opening down to 905 at close; September at 915 off to 915. October at 81 to 126; year at 905 with $1056, bid. The cash market snowed no change. Good milling wheat, grade No. 2 and samples of choice to fancy were in mailing demand and and was low and needium in quality, which was dull and low-priced. Elevator with-frawels, 8,36 bu to city, 23,30 to rallroads, 8,47 to river. Zhioago traders seem to have made up their mind that lore was a sale, for yesterday they were selling freely, and his morning they pounded prices down rapidly. The fine rop prospect excites a bearish feeling, especially as there.

THE Missouri delegation seems to stand 28 for CLEVELAND and 39 for TILDEN.

imity with which the De Conventions disregard Mr. TILDEN'S refusal to an idea that the man who feels it the worst is JAMES G. BLAINE.

Pittsburg is to succeed the recently bankrupt SARIN to manage the National campaign on the Republican side, is supplemented by the statement that Mr. Jones has a bar'l. Of course he has What is he there fort

THOSE strange beings who labor under the delusion that the Democratic party is a "tarifffor-revenue-only" party should take warning by the fate of the genial idiot who undertook to ring in a series of free-trade resolutions on the Ohio convention yesterday. The conven tion sat down on him and sat down hard.

PERHAPS the New York Herald means well when it characterizes the Blaine movement as an attempt of Western demagogism, swagger nd bounce to make itself the controlling force the Union." But, if the Herald really exalt Western power in politics.

A REMARKABLE item of news appears in the morning papers to the effect that John Kelly few men have made more out of it than it was sense, not Keutucky, will prevail this year at Chica this in confidence. What makes the item remarkable is that yesterday Mr. Kelly allowed ceived by the fraudulent dividends now find himself to be interviewed in order to mention that he was opposed to CLEVELAND, and the day before he wrote a letter to some one saying that he was opposed to CLEVELAND. If this sort of thing is kept up long enough the public will of course believe that JOHN KELLY is opposed to CLEVELAND, but what of it?

It is hard to understand why the Senator object to an investigation of the condition of the New York national banks. If the banks are all right they have nothing to fear from an held at Paris, Ky., on the 18th inst. Only four investigation. If they are not all right it ought attended. These were S. M. BERRY, aged 88; to be known. The tremendous shrinkage in Dr. J. G. CHINN, aged 87; GILEAD EVANS, aged the value of securities in the past three years 90; R. M. CAMPBELL, aged 91. The names of cannot be ignored or overlooked. The routine eight who had died since last year's meeting at reports of the official examiners tell us nothing of the condition of the banks. Every bank which C. C. GRAHAM, 79 years and 8 months old, fails is discovered to have been insolvent at the wrote that he was too feeble to attend this year. solvent. The Government which chartered still be living next year. When these reunions these banks and assumed the responsibility for their solvency cannot do much harm by paying a little special attention to them at a time when they certainly need it. .

BEAUTIFUL is the spectacle of charity, and touching is the thought that those who resort to Uhrig's Cave this week to listen to the "Princess of Trebizonde" help to pay the debt of a great charity hospital. But what becomes of a great principle when beer is sold at this summer theater during this week only, while the law has refused to permit the selling of beer at any other time? Is there one law in this country for one man and another law for others! Can a license be refused to a reputable citizen when he is carrying on his ordinary busines when a license is granted to sell beer in the same place on the pretext of charity? The sale of beer at Uhrig's Cave this week, after the long. hard fight which has been made against it. turns the whole proceeding into a farce, and a very pitiful farce at that.

WE would not wantonly deprive Mr. O'DAY of the consolation which he derives from the reflection that the party which endures him as chairman of the State Committee has also sent him as delegate at large to the National Convention. But the explanation is simply that the Democratic majority in Missouri is so secure that nothing can shake it, and Missouri would still be a Democratic State if Mr. O'DAY's position were filled by a much more unsuitable man. If any occasion should arise, however, to put Democracy in Missouri to a test, if it were to find itself in a conflict in which all its strength would be needed. Mr. O'DAY would discover that, instead of being of any help or use to the party, he was a heavy load for it to carry. He should not flatter himself that because the party is strong enough to carry him it is stronger because it has such a Ir has been our sad duty from time to time to comment upon the blighting and withering result of the Republican's political friendship. No one can survive it. Time and again have the fresh green trees of the political forest, the bright young buds of the garden been ruined by that fatal affection, and yesterday it added two older victims to its list. Mr. PRIEST, who has long suffered from his connection with the Republican, came in a bad eighth for delegate at large, and, in a convention of 829 men, in ressed because it was offered by a that name before which 830 were for TILDEN, a Tilden resoluable name of KNAPP. The only thing for the on to do when it loves a state ould fain see him succeed is to oppose him with ruthless and relentless warfare. If it ates any one let it support him.

THE SHRINKAGE

A careful analysis of prices shows a total de reciation of $1,185,520,181 in the market value of all quotable railroad securities from July 1, 1881, to March 1, 1884, and it is said that the hrinkage since the latter date amounts to about half a billion dollars. Yet the properties show ng this enormous depreciation in Wall street have greatly increased in mileage, equipment and all that constitutes earning capacity and entary on Wall street "business" and on the vicious license accorded to the management of great corporate trusts under our laws and a mere license to a few men to gamble with oaded dice for billions of other people's money, and to maintain a system of public robbery compared with which the entire catalogue of piracies on the high seas is mere petty larceny.

The system is epitomized in the management of the Union and Central Pacific roads, and the cause of these vast fluctuations is revealed in run may pain Mr. Tilden deeply, but we have the story of that management. Having built these roads with public money, and thereby obtained land worth more than twice the cost, the managers, by corrupt manipulation of Congress, cheated the Government out of its first lien, covered both roads with a bonded debt, issued stock representing no paid in capital to the amount of $120,000,000, and, by paying 7 per cent dividends, put this stock up 20 per cent above par, and proceeded to unload it on the public, while permitting their debt due the Government to grow to $100,000,000. The earnings were spent in paying dividends on fictitious capital, in corrupting courts and legislators and in building a new Southern Pacific line and connections free from the Government lien and from the debts accumulating against the properties they were as "The Official Register of the United States," which contains a full list of the officers and employes of the Post Office Department and the Postal Service, has just made its appearance. This blue book is compiled every second year, the idea being to furnish to each new Congress a complete list of the officers and employes of the Government in all its branches, with the salary paid, State from which employed, etc. The first volume made its appearance some months since, early in the session. It ance some months since, early in the session. It contained the names of all persons in the employ of the various departments except those of the Post Office Department. The second volume, containing the names of the Post Office employes, is the one referred to above as just out. It is a volume of nearly 1,000 pages, and contains, besides the names of offi-cers and employees of the department in Washington, the names of all the mail contractors, post office those employed in the mail messenger service and railway mail service, all the carriers and clerks in post offices, and all postmasters. The list of postfamily troubles was compelled for a living to accept an engagement at La Scala Music Hall, in Paris, has an engagement at La Scala Music Hall, in Paris, has thrown it up, and has now so far fallen in the world in round numbers, about 50,000 postmasters in the United States, whose salaries are from $8,000 per annum down to 9 cents. The individual receiving annum down to 9 cents. The individual receiving the largest salary in this capacity is the postmaster at New York, whose salary is $8,000, the same as that of the Postmaster-General himself. The small-est salary appears to be that paid to H. H. Forrest, postmaster at Redale, Pitt County, N. C., whose sal-ary, according to this register, was 9 cents. Posta postmaster at Redale, Pitt County, N. C., whose salary, according to this register, was 9 cents. Postmasters below a certain grade, it will be understood, are paid according to the number of stamps cancelled at their offices. Formerly they were paid according to the number of stamps soid, but this system was not found to be satisfactory, some of the postmasters making a business of selling stamps in order to get their percentages. Now they are paid by the number of stamps canceled, receiving the full value up to the first $50, and a certain proportion after reaching that sum. Out of the 50,000 postmasters in the United Stares, there are 2,000, according to this register, whose salaries are less than $10 each. Of course it is not to be understood that these persons devote their entire time or attention to the duties of postmaster for this sum. These are places where post offices are located in country stores or at private houses, and are kept either as an accommodation to the neighborhood, or with an idea that their keeping brings some additional trade to the proprietor of the store or other establishment where they are kept. In Ohio there are 20 offices where the salary is less than $10 per annun; In Fennsylvania, $6; in West Yirginia, $11; in Wisconsin, 50; in Minniesota, 46. In Illinois, there are among these $,000 persons whose salaries are below $10; no less than thirty-four whose salaries are below $10; no less than thirty-four whose salaries are below $10; no less than thirty-four whose salaries are salaries were less than $1 a year for their services in this line. The majority of the committee reported with the majority of the committee reported with the majority of the committee reported that the action of the Department had been quite proper and for the best interests of the Government; ammortly however, reported otherwise. It was in the discussion of this report that one of the members plainly told Mr. Holman that he was permitting his zeal for the Government to make him the tool of parties trying to sell other property to the Government in place of that selected by the Treasury officials. This brings to the minds of those familiar with legislation in the past few years a circumstance of equal interest in which Mr. Holman was thus unwittingly made the tool of parties who were reaping a rich harvest from the Government, and who from his course were enabled to continue to does for several years. One Conant, formerly an employe of one of the departments here, probably the Treasury, leased from the Government the old Post Office building in the city of New York at the sum of $10,000 or $12,000 per year, and sub-let it afterwards for $31,000 yearly. By and by it was adjudged to be expedient that the property be sold. Mr. Conant, however, desiring the fat lease to continue as long as possible, taking advantage of Mr. Holman's zeal for the Government, rushed to him and, getting his ear, told him that a scheme was on foot to self the New York property at a price far below its actual value, and urged him to get a resolution through Congress that it should not be sold for less than a certain sum, which it now transpires was much more integrity and good intentions in the matter are unquestioused, fell into the trap

They alleged that the old Fort Dearborn addition to Chicago, in which their property and the land in dispute lie, was laid out and sold them by the Government at the order of the Secretary of War, and that portion of the lake front was dedicated to the city of Chicago by an act of Congress, which provided that it should always remain unobstructed and be used only for park purposes. All the property sold fronting on the park was sold on condition that the view of the lake should never be shut off. It was further claimed that games played on the grounds constitute a nuisance, as clerks in business houses adjacent had their attention distracted from work. The Cleveland Herald says: "The team batted out three runs in the sixth inning of yesterday's game, and it was at that time that Manager Hackett loosed the yellow dog. Four runs were gathered in the same inning on Saturday, and the yellow dog was on the field when they were innde. He is homely, and wandered into the grounds four days ago, hair starved and without a friend. The team adopted him for luck, and it came. Briody is his especial friend, but Briody is a doubter, and though he loves the yellow dog better that pie, he says, as he looks at his canine friend: The first game we lose you die."

especial friend, but Briedy is a doubter, and though he loves the yellow dog better than pie, he says, as he looks at his cannie friend: 'The first game we lose you die.'"

Probably base-ball rivalry is nowhere in the country so intense as at Minneapolis and St. Paul. The two towns hate each other with undying cordislity, and when their ball clubs meet the feeling runs tremendously high. At the game at St. Paul Monday, an enormous crowd, drawn about equally from both cities, was present. The St. Paul nine was applauded unmultiously by the St. Paulinian, and boisterously jeered by the Minneapolitans, while the Minneapolits boys were as heartily cheered, by their home admirers and hissed by the St. Paul crowd. When yietory perched at last on the banners of the St. Paul players, the yellong beat the Blaine men at the Chicago Convention. It was a sad blow to the younger town, and it is doubtful whether she can be consoled by the fact that she is taking the lead of her much older neighbor in about everything outside of base-ball.—[Times.

Enter Anson with glaring eyes, pale countenance and froth dripping from his kisser. Glancing rapidly about the apartment he furiously yells to visitors; "Get out of here, you feliers; this is not a resort for bums."

Room Cleared—Five players alone with the glant in all his demoniscal fury. Shaking with passion and hardly able to find his voice, he finally breaks out he a perfect storm of invectives, heaping barrels of abuse upon the heads of the luckless ball-tossers. Quoth he: "You are a fine set of stiffs, ain't you? I can pick a better nine out of the Morgue than you are. A nice thing it is to be giving you all a President's salary and then to make such a sorry exhibition of yourselves. Bah! spread through the upper stratum of Hebrew social circles. What has added greatly to THE BITTERNESS OF FEELING OVER the fair is the fact that for the past few days a number of Jewish indies have been engaged in working up the benefit on behalf of the Children's Hospital of the Sisters of Charity, now going on at Uhrig's Cave. Among these Mrs. Moses Fraley has been unremitting in her executions on behalf of the Christian institution in question, and it is stated by those who ought to know that by her efforts not less than $1,000 have been secured for it. Notwithstanding that they feel very keenly the slight put upon them as a race, neither Mrs. Steinberg nor any others of those interested are willing to take any steps tending to an expression of their indignation, and if the unpleasant little affair had not leaked out accidently it would hardly have become public.

The Treasury Department has issued a call for $10,000,000 in bonds.

The House bill passed extending to the water transportation routes the provisions of the statutes hitherto applied to land routes, only regarding the immediate transportation of dutiable goods.*

The legislative bill was then proceeded with, the pending question being on the amendment proposed by the Senate Appropriation Committee to strike out the clause permitting distilleries, mashing ten bushels or less grain per day, to be run without store-keepers, and inserting instead a provision amending the Revised Statutes so as to forbid the collector from hereafter approving the bonds of grain distillers whose distilleries shall be for a less capacity than ten bushels of grain per day, and so as to forbid, under penalties, the distillation of a less daily quantity than that. The point of order being raised that the part recommended for insertion was new legislation and therefore obmoxicus to the rule forbidding such legislation in appropriation bills, the chair sustained the point of order and the new clause recommended was not adopted.

The committee's recommendation to strike out the House clause was, however, agreed to.

Change in Temperature To-Day Which Was Very Welcome. MONEY loaned on household goods, planes, etc., w ont removal; lowest rates; business strictly confid tial. J. H. Vette, Notary Public, 619 Chestnut st. 31

Was Very Welcome.

The change in temperature since yesterday was altogether uncommon, the thermometer yesterday at 10 o'clock registering 82.5 and to-day having dropped to 61. The minimum temperature was 57.9 recorded this morning at 6:07 o'clock. The same day of the month last year it was very low, the figures then being 58.2. The Signal Service reports a general fall at all stations except in the externe West and Northwest, where slight rise occurred. The indications are for light rain, followed by clearing weather, with slight changes in the temperature. The readings of the thermometer for to-day, as observed by Aloes, optician, were as follows:

Lieutenant To-Day. Corps of this city received notification to day from Washington of his promotion to a lieutenancy. Lieut Weber took charge of the Signal office in this city in November, 1878, having been printer for the department for the previous four years, since that time he has had entire control of the corps, and by his urbanity and efficiency has made meteorological observations an important factor in commercial calculations and ordinary daily life. This deserved reward for his many years of faiteful service will necessitate his departure next week for Fort Myer, Virginia, where he will take the course of instruction of six months or more laid down for officers of that rank. At the explination of his course of study he will, in all probability, enter the Chief Signal Office in Washington, although no orders have been as yet received concerning the management of the local office. It will very likely be under the care of Corporal Weber. Corps of this city received notification to Recess until 3 p. m. THE FASHIONABLE BOOT.

The Feminine Foot Once More Free and Shapely. Vashington Letter to the Baltin

And Shapely.

Washington Letter to the Baltimore American.

Speaking of personal appearance, the fashionable boot of woman has undergone a sudden and radical change. Only a few months ago it was wholly artificial in shape and as unnatural in size as squeezing could make it. The tees were brought to a sharp point and the apparent heel was directly under the instep, while the real one projected behind the high support. You are familiar enough with that kind of pedal distortion, because it was for several years in fashion and a majority of finely-dressed women submitted to its torture. It did not permit of natural walking, but gave rise, of necessity, to that mincing gait which we have almost come to regard as characteristic of femininity. But at the point where further remodeling of the foot would have nearly approached the Chinese kind of disfiguration there came a reaction, and the foot of the New York belle of to-day is set flasly and squarely on the ground. The reformation has been produced by the vogue into which athletic sports have come with the ordinarily all-too-gentle sex. Pedestrianism has struck popularity with our city young women and lazy ease is for the time in disfavor. Exercise afoot was found to be hardly a diversion in the high-heeled and narrow-toed shoes, and therefore a change was wrought in a few weeks which physicians and dress reformers could not have effected in a century of argument.

The shoes of 1884's summer has a heel of less of argument.
The shoes of 1884's summer has a heel of less

The shoes of 1884's summer has a heel or less than an inch in height and placed where it belongs. The toe is round and wide. The entire outline is not quite that of a natural human foot, but as nearly so as previous condition of compression permits. The material is not the inelastic glazed stuff long in use, but soft calfskin of the same kind used in men's shoes. The make is masculine, even in such details as beveled soles and yellow stitching, and especially in the fact that the surface is not to be daubed with a black, shiny varnish, but blackened with pigment and brush, in the way heretofore distinctively and exclusively male. The exception in this latter respect is the shoe made of real or imitation crocodile skin, reddish yellow in color and making the wearer look as though on her way to a base-ball match. An artist friend, rapturous on the subject, declared that an era of naturalness had at last begun and that: uncontracted waists would be the next happy attainment on the part of our fashionable girls.

"Sea that foot?" he exclaimed, referring to attainment on the part of our lasticulate girls.

"See that foot?" he exclaimed, referring to one that was protruding from under the hem of a skirt across the car in which we were riding. "It isn't expressionless, like a bunch of bones, sinews and skin, with every bit of fat long ago pressed out; it isn't the foot of a Chinese lady nor of a mummy dried a thousand years; it is mobile, instinct with life, shapely, free—in short, just the foot that ought to be on a pretty and lively girl."

His Mistake.

From the Merchant Trapeller.

A gentleman on East Fourth street found a ragged tramp sitting on his front steps eating his lunch.

"Here! What are you doing there?" he shouted.

"Here! What are you doing there!" he shouted.

"Partaking of a slight lunch. Will you join me!" the tramp politely responded.

"No; I don't want any of your villainous feed."

"That's so; it is pretty tough kind of fodder. I just got it out of your kitchen. Your wife must be doing her own cooking now."

"What's that, you infernal bound?" exclaimed the angry man, starting toward the tramp, still sitting quietly on the step.

"Don't get excited, sir; don't get excited; think a minute. Aren't you mistaken in calling me a hound?"

"No, I'm not; and I'll—"

"But, my dear sir, you are mistaken; I am no hound, I'm a setter."

The gentleman gazed at the tramp in admira-

Miss Lulu Husted's Progress in Greek. From the Brooklyn Union.

Classical teachers are much interested in the Greek record made the past school year at Prof. West's seminary by Miss Lulu Husted, danghter of W. A. Husted of St. James' Place. The regular preparatory course for celleges covers three years, and includes but four books of Xenophon's "Anabasis" and three of Homer's "liad." Beginning last October with the Greek alphabet, Miss Husted has since not only done all the required work in one year, including Arnold's "First Greek" book and "Jones Composition," but has also read critically the whole twenty-four books of the "Iliad." Her instructor was Miss Cora Townsend, a graduate of Michigan University, Ann Arbor, who is the professor of Greek at Dr. West's school. Miss Husted will enter Smith College in the fall. It is believed her record has never been equalled by any American young lady.

From the Detroit Free Press.

He had been very kind and solicitous for several days, and at breakfast yesterday morning he suddenly remarked:

"My dear, you don't know how bad it makes me feel to see you look so thin and careworn."

"Yes," she softly replied.

"You must have lost at least five pounds in the last month."

"I presume so."

"Yes."

"Dear me! but I could never forgive myself if you should go into a decline."

"See here, Henry!" she replied, as she laid down her fork and looked him square in the eye, "you want to drop that! If you think you can pack me off to the country for a month and leave you to gallop around here you have got hold of the wrong end of the string!"

He sighed heavily, but made no reply, and yet as he stood on the corner waiting for the car, and Smith asked him how his wife was, he answered:
